Profile

I am a passionate and motivated Junior .NET Developer with a strong foundation in C# and .NET technologies. I have hands-on experience building web applications using ASP.NET ↗ Core and working with microservice-based architectures. I am familiar with asynchronous communication patterns and message brokers such as RabbitMQ, and I have experience integrating services using event-driven approaches.
I am eager to further develop my skills in full-stack development, distributed systems, and scalable application design. I am a quick learner who thrives in dynamic environments, enjoys solving complex problems, and values clean, maintainable code. My goal is to contribute to a collaborative team where I can continue to grow as a developer while delivering reliable and high-quality software solutions.
